SELF-RISING BUCKWHEAT.
After ten years' fair trial in Memphis and elsewhere it is found that Self-Rising Buckwheat is better for general use than plain buckwheat, because—
First. The best New York Buckwheat is used.
Second. It makes nice light and rich cakes.
Third. It never makes a failure when the directions are followed.
Fourth. It only takes five minutes' time to make the best of cakes.
Fifth. Any common cook can always make good light cakes. And it costs but a trifle more than common buckwheat.
For sale by retail grocers.

When the old wrecks and dangerous obstructions to commerce now in front of the new landing are removed steamboatmen will be happy, but not till then.
The old City Hall is to be repaired and improved so that it will be regarded as safe. The beautiful tower or dome which now adorns it is to be taken down and out.
Requiere Miller, public guardian, has several little orphan boys and girls whom he wishes to hire out to people who will give them good homes and treat them kindly.
Among the diverse petitions presented to the General Council last night was one for pay for submarine explorations made in front of the new landing by a professional diver.
Last night sudden darkness overspread the city, and the rains came down, very much to the satisfaction of Memphisians who have been annoyed by the dust for weeks.
The hackmen had their prayers granted last night when the rain fell just as the theater broke loose. It cost the male theater-goers several dollars to carry their fair friends home.
The Irish Literary Association meet to-night at its hall on Poplar street, near Adams. As this is the occasion of the semi-annual election of officers, there will and should be a full attendance.
The Wolf river bridge at Raleigh has been pronounced in an unsafe condition by the District Circuit Court Grand Jury, and a bill of indictment, we presume, was found against the structure.
Last night at the theatre many ladies wept over the sorrows and woes of poor "Parthenia," the beautiful Greek girl who had become enamored with the savage "Ingomar," the chief of the Germani.

At the theatre to-night Romeo and Juliet, Shakespeare's most romantic creation, will be the attraction. Miss Anderson will impersonate "Juliet," the pretty Capulet who fell in love with the bold Montague.
To-night Rev. Dr. Palmer, of New Orleans, will lecture on Mormonism at the Greenlaw Opera House. Dr. Palmer is one of the leading divines of the South, and is recognized as a platform orator of wonderful ability.
In the Circuit Court to-day a divorce bill was filed by Samuel Turner vs. Phyllis Turner. Both parties are black, and Sam charges Phyllis with cruelty and drunkenness, and general "cussedness," for which he demands a divorce a vinculo.
The F. F. F. Club have issued invitations for another of the series of pleasant entertainments they have been giving this season to the votaries of Torp-sichora. This is to be a fancy dress and calico soiree, and to be given at Cochran Hall, Wednesday evening, Dec. 13th.

Insurance men are always asking Memphians to insure their buildings, and yet a few nights ago the stable of Eleazar Wright, the great insurance expert and philosopher, was burned down and he had no insurance on the building. Doctors hardly ever take their own medicine.
At half past ten o'clock this morning a quantity of tar on the roof of a building on West Court street, which building is occupied by Mr. Toof, caught fire. The firemen promptly extinguished it in a few minutes. The tar was being prepared for roofing purposes and accidentally caught fire.
Nashville has an artillery company with Mr. John W. Morton as captain. Major Morton commanded a battery during the last war, and was on General Forrest's staff as chief of artillery. Memphis should have an artillery company sufficient at least to man a section or two guns.
A contract between the city and the railroad companies for the erection of a union depot on the Center Landing and for giving the railroads the right of way so as to connect the different roads on the landing, is being drafted by the city attorney and the members of the committee on railroads.

Yesterday afternoon Recorder Doff heard the case of the State vs. Miss Nettie White, on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Conrad, husband of Miss Fannie Freeman, and a resident of the classic region of Market Square, charging that the said Miss White kept a naughty house or bagnio, to the great annoyance of the virtuous neighborhood. Counsel of the defendant waived an examination and M'le White gave the necessary bond to appear and answer for the misdemeanor before the Criminal Court.

Yesterday afternoon a two-story frame house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Catherine Shipley, No. 441 Poplar street, caught fire from a defective flue. The fire brigade was promptly on the ground and saved the building. The roof and upper story was damaged to the amount of about two hundred dollars.
The orange blossoms are spreading their fragrance all around. Numerous marriages are taking place, and between now and Christmas other victims will be made happy. As Parthenia said to Ingomar, "Two souls with but a single thought. Two hearts that beat as one."

The Quarantine Hospital and grounds at the foot of President's Island, and belonging to the city, have been left uninhabited and uncared for, and are liable to be destroyed by fire at any time. These buildings cost the city a considerable amount of money, and should be taken care of in some manner by our city fathers.
This morning, on Linden street, a lady was walking into town, and carried a purse, suspended by a chain, in her hand. A ruffian negro grabbed the purse and attempted to wrench it from her, but the chain, which was wound around her wrist, prevented him from so doing. The negro broke and ran down an alley. In this case the building business would come up properly, and about one hundred ladies, well laid on, would be quite efficacious in curing the would-be thief of a desire to commit robbery.
In view of the late terrible calamity at the Brooklyn Theater it becomes all the more imperative that our theatres in order so as to meet stampedes or panics. The Memphis theater is peculiarly free from danger. The parquette and dress circle is not more than six feet above the level of the street. On each side of the theatre are alleys and on each side of the dress circle are two windows and one door opening into these alleys. With the usual masses of egress in front and these side doors and windows an audience could escape from the building in a few minutes in case of fire, and without danger.

Wade Hampton's oath has become historical: "By the eternal God, if I am elected Governor, I will have my place!" In Triamphant Shandy, when "Uncle Toby" heard that the poor officer "LeFevre" was dying he said to "Corporal Trim": "He will live." "He will die," replied "Corporal Trim." "By God, he shall not die!" answered "Uncle Toby"; and the author, Lawrence Sterne, goes on to say, "The Ministering Angel flew up to heaven's chancery with the oath and blushed as he gave it in, but the Recording Angel, as he wrote it down, dropped a tear upon the word and blotted it out forever."

Amusements.
MEMPHIS THEATRE—Ingomar, an old and romantic play, full of sentiment and rushing affection, was presented for the first time in many years in this city at the theatre last night. The play is of the intense romantic school, and years ago was quite popular, but of late years it has not been a stage play, the romantic school of plays having given place to society plays and other more modern attractions. Miss Mary Anderson appeared in the role of "Parthenia," and to considerable advantage. Her rendition of the part was a fine piece of acting, and was duly appreciated by the audience, who responded with applause and bouquets. Mr. Norton, as "Ingomar," did excellently well, and showed himself to be a most effective actor, a fact which was recognized by the audience. The support rendered by the Stevens Dramatic Company was not brilliant by any means, as many of the performers lost their lines and put the prompter in a prominent but most embarrassing position, causing him to play several roles for a time, and to be heard all over the house. We know, a stock company has hard work in committing to memory the lines of a new play, and has but little time to perform the task, whereas the "star" has his or her lines committed to memory in a most perfect and accurate manner. The play was nicely put upon the stage by the management, and in a style much better than is done in many other cities of greater theatrical fame and importance. To-night Miss Anderson will appear as the loving and gentle "Juliet" in Shakespeare's beautiful creation, Romeo and Juliet, over which romantic youths and maidens have wept and sighed. We shall, however, have the pleasure of again seeing the gallant "Romeo," the gentle "Juliet," old "Capulet" and "Montague," the soldierly and brave "Mercutio," the garrulous old "Nurse," the starving "Apothecary," the fiery "Tybalt," and the "Holy Friar." These are historical characters, whom we can greet as old friends of the Shakespearean world.

WASHINGTON STREET VARIETIES.—This place of public amusement continues to attract good audiences nightly. The entertainments are interesting, and the company quite a good one. Among the present attractions are Misses Maggie Louise, Maggie Hunter, Minnie Herndon, May Mescham, M'le Josephine, Messrs. Fisher, Clifton, O'Brien and master Phil Spaeth. A fine bill will be presented to-night.

The military forces of England, militia, yeomanry and volunteers included, is reckoned at 470,766, of which 191,834 are regular troops. The navy numbers 65,000 men. Germany has 1,637,000 troops, of all arms and classes, with a naval force of 13,000. The Austrian army, including all reserves, numbers 500,000 men, with about 14,500 in the navy. Italy had 750,000 men in the army, and 10,000 sailors; Greece, 40,000 land forces; Turkey can muster 310,000 fighting men; Roumania, 58,000; Servia, 117,400; and Montenegro, 23,000.

City Charter Amendments.
At the General Council meeting held last night Mayor Flippin presented the Boards and recommended several changes in the city charter, so as to effect a compromise with bonded creditors of the city. He recommended the following changes in the following words: "This compromise necessitates a repeal of that clause of section 33 of the charter, which forbids the issuance of bonds for any purpose. To consummate this arrangement, some bonds, of necessity, must be issued. So much of sections 63 and 64 of the charter as limit the taxing power of the city to one dollar and sixty cents, and the application of the same in just such amounts as therein specified to the purposes designated, must be repealed. It is proposed to repeal section 63, and to leave it optional, not, as now, imperative with all cities what they shall receive in payment of all taxes that may be due, or that have accrued up to the first of January, 1875. Again, so amend the last sentence of section 66 as to make it conclude with the words, 'But all tax-a falling due upon levies made in 1877 or thereafter, under the charter, shall be paid either in cash, coupons or bonds of said cities. Repeal section 78 of the charter, which makes the first year commence on the first of January, and in lieu thereof make the fiscal year begin on the first of October. Do this, and collect your taxes in cash instead of in what is known as legal balances.'"
